No, Palo Verde Valley Times from Google does not carry KCOP listings I said only 3 channels from 5, 9 & 11, that's all.

I believe we established in a similar thread that this particular newspaper -- which is from Arizona, not California -- only carried listings for KTLA, KCAL and KTTV because only those three stations were being carried via microwave relay on cable systems in the Southwest.

The absence of KCOP is intentional, since none of that paper's readers could view the station.

That said, I suggest to all who post retro schedules that the state of a newspaper's origin be included to avoid this type of confusion. The source should have been therefore listed as "Palo Verde Valley (AZ) Times from Google News Archive".

I wonder why KCOP never bothered with out-of-area coverage, considering the other three stations were carried as far east as Albuquerque.

The stations had no say in it. They were picked up off-air by a third party who then sold the microwave signals to cable systems in the Southwest. During the 1970s and 1980s, when that distribution was at its peak, KCOP was considered to be the weakest of the independents, programming-wise, and I'm sure the distributor decided not to spend the money to microwave a fourth station which might be shunned by the cable systems. (Even then, it was all about the ability to turn a profit.)

You learn something new every day. Was third-party transmission common for regional superstations? And did the stations get any money for these third parties, the way WTBS did?

What about KCOP, Channel 13?

Here you go, RyanHoward.

Absolutely to the first, rarely for the second. In fact, Turner was not allowed to directly own his satellite transponder for WTBS. (See article on Satellite Program Network at the History of UHF Television website.) He had a unique arrangement whereby you paid the carrier, who in turn paid Ted.

The satellite distribution of WOR in New York and WGN in Chicago were also expansions of existing microwave distribution arrangements and the stations saw nothing. It wasn't until Tribune acquired the company that distributed WGN that they were able to control the programming that was run in place of those shows pre-empted by Syndex (the syndication exclusivity by market rule). And that is what led to WGN America.

I recall there were also microwave networks for KTVU Oakland-San Francisco, KTVT Dallas-Fort Worth and WSBK Boston at some points in time. Same thing; the stations didn't get any of the retransmission revenue.

No TV baseball in San Francisco in 1963 and 1964??

...got two San Francisco TV Guides off eBay last week, and found an interesting situation re MLB. On 13 July 1963 at 10:15 AM, the CBS coverage of Giants-Phillies from Philadelphia is carried on KSBW/8 Salinas, KXTV/10 Sacramento and KHSL-TV/12 Chico (and KOLO-TV/8 Reno picks it up at 10:25) -- but not on KPIX-TV/5. KXTV even takes out a half-page ad to promote it. Then at 11:30, NBC's coverage of Tigers-White Sox from Chicago is carried by KCRA-TV/3 Sacramento, KCRL/4 Reno and KVIP-TV/7 Redding -- but nothing on KRON-TV/4. Following day, same story for CBS' Dodgers-Phillies at 9:30 (9:55 on KOLO) and NBC's Orioles-White Sox at 11:30. Forward to 16 May 1964, and CBS' Athletics-Yankees at 10:45 and NBC's Indians-Tigers at 11:30 are again seen on the same stations (KVIP-TV had become KRCR by then), ditto the next day's CBS Braves-Cardinals at 10:45 and NBC Indians-Tigers at 11:30 -- but nothing at all on KRON or KPIX (or even Oakland indie KTVU/2). Was a hometown blackout of all Major League product common in the early '60s? And were the Sacramento and Salinas signals close enough to SFO to serve large chunks of the Giants' home market?...

It appears you are referring to the NBC and CBS "Game of the Week." In each season in the early 60s, one or the other - sometimes both - ran a "Game of the Week." Part of the deal for both networks was the broadcasts could not be carried by affiliates in MLB team home markets, but they did get carried by affiliates in adjacent TV markets which some viewers in team home markets could pick up. After CBS bought the New York Yankees, CBS switched from running a game of the week, to running a Saturday afternoon Yankee game. CBS games were broadcast by Dizzy Dean and Pee Wee Reese. NBC games by Joe Garagiola.

The main sponsor of Dizzy Dean's broadcasts on CBS was Falstaff Beer. If you ever catch "The Pride of St. Louis," on TCM (with Chet Huntley in a small role as Dizzy's broadcast partner), one of the plot lines is Diz befriends a disabled man whose father owns a brewery. The friend gets dad to hire Diz to broadcast St. Louis Browns games when his playing career (mostly with the Cardinals) ends. Falstaff was originally branded with the name of the family which started the brewery: Griesedieck Brothers Beer. The name didn't lend itself to radio copy. The first syllable is pronounced "greasy." You can figure out the rest.

And were the Sacramento and Salinas signals close enough to SFO to serve large chunks of the Giants' home market?...

The far north Bay Area might have been able to pick up a fuzzy Sacto signal but I don't think Salinas was watchable even as far south as San Jose/Santa Clara. Since the whole Bay Area is very mountainous it depends upon your specific location if you can pick up fringe signals. I remember living in Daly City, San Rafael and Fairfax and we could pick up only the S.F. stations and KTVU from Oakland. When we lived in the Sacramento foothills we were much higher in elevation than S.F. but could not pick up any of their TV signals and none of their FM's were clear.

LOL! Probably not that other broadcast medium's copy either.

ixnay

I was talking with someone about this, and yes, blackouts in home markets were common back then. They didn't want TV to cut into ticket sales. However, local radio was permitted.

And the blackout rule is even worse now.

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Major_L...lackout_policy

(Take special note of the blackout map, which shows why baseball fans shouldn't live in Iowa ... that state is entirely within the blackout area of five teams!)

My dad told me that when my family lived in San Jose for a little while in the mid-60s(before I was born), it was possible to get KSBW in San Jose(not sure if KMST was around yet).

Also, dad recalled using a TV aerial to pull in KOVR 13 in Sacramento, when we lived on the Peninsula(San Mateo County). No other Sacramento stations were available via antenna in that area; we got cable in the early '70s, and the only Sactown station carried was KTXL 40.

This isn't like you think, this is only for when a national and local broadcast of the same game are occurring. For instance, I live in North Dakota, listed as being in the Twins "blackout" zone. I can get every single game that is broadcast, there is never one being broadcast either nationally or by Fox Sports North, who has the Twins contract, that is blacked out from my viewing. But if ESPN has a game, it is blacked out on ESPN because Fox Sports North has the local contract so you have to turn there for the game. That is all this is for.

Actually, Iowa is in the blackout area (other than local sports nets) for 6 MLB teams (Cubs, White Sox, Twins, Royals, Brewers, Cardinals)--the map had one color representing both Chicago teams.

Las Vegas is another heavy MLB blackout zone--Giants, Athletics, Dodgers, Angels, Padres, and Diamondbacks.

Retro: New Orleans December 1-7, 1953

Source: New Orleans Times-Picayune

Since I had the schedules for this week pulled for an article on WJMR-TV (coming soon to Clarke Ingram's new website on the history of UHF!) I combined them into a single log, complete with abbreviations, errors, gaps, etc.

The newspaper listed WDSU/6 and WJMR/61 separately, with a single short line for every program entry and no details whatsoever. In other words, what you see is exactly what was listed. A * was supposed to indicate a network program, although as you will see there were some kinnies that were not so designated. (L) meant live from the network, although why that would have mattered to the viewers is beyond me.

WDSU was NBC primary, WJMR was ABC/DuMont primary, with both sharing CBS and WDSU carrying some ABC and DuMont shows anyway, with some shows relegated to running via kinnies late at night. And this was only one month after WJMR first went on the air in the Big Easy.

Have fun deciphering this mess.

Could you imagine in 1953, New Orleans had only one VHF TV station? And I wonder why a UHF signed on before New Orleans' three other VHF's, WWL 4, WVUE 8 and WYES 12? According to Wikipedia, WDSU was on the air by 1948, yet no other VHF stations were on the air five years later?

I also noticed that WJMR 61 ran both the ABC Evening News with John Daly and the CBS Evening News with "Doug" Edwards. (I guess in later years, he'd switch to using his full first name "Douglas.") It was rare for TV stations, even those affiliated with multiple networks, to run more than one network evening news show. In fact, many stations that were only affiliated with ABC didn't run the ABC Evening News. They found it better for the ratings to run some syndicated program in its place.

The other commercial VHF allocation, for channel 4, was tied up in comparative hearings due to multiple applicants. Supreme Broadcasting (wisely, it turns out) figured those hearings would keep it from coming on the air for many years, and decided to get whatever jump on the competition they could by being the sole applicant for channel 61.

Oh, and if you would take the time to read the article in its entirety, WVUE is a direct descendant of WJMR, so including it on that list is disingenuous. Channel 8 was a non-commercial educational reserved allocation and very few of those actually made it on the air before the 1960s (WVUE did not start off on that channel).

San Francisco indies during the Loma Prieta Earthquake of 1989?

...over on YouTube, somebody posted a video aircheck of KGO-TV/7's local coverage (just the first 40 minutes or so) of the 1989 Loma Prieta Earthquake that interrupted the World Series that year. Watched it the other day. And it made me wonder -- I have a DVD of someone flipping between KGO-TV/7, KPIX-TV/5, KRON/4 and KTVU/2 for two consecutive hours that evening, so I know they all went to wall-to-wall coverage. But what of the English-language UHF independents of the Bay Area at the time -- KOFY-TV/20, KICU-TV/36 San Jose, KBHK-TV/44, and KFTY-TV/50 Santa Rosa? Did they go to their own wall-to-wall coverage, or perhaps rebroadcast the coverage of one of the VHF's?...

The '89 quake happened before the days of UHF and VHF duoplies, so no UHF would have picked up a VHF newscast. KOFY, I believe, had just started a 10 o'clock newscast a few weeks earlier, so I'm sure they had coverage of some kind. We did not have cable at that time, and UHF reception was so poor where we lived that we almost never watched anything on that band.

...not so sure about that. After all, back on 22 November 1963, after President Kennedy was shot, both KPHO-TV/5 (indie) and KAET/8 (NET) in Phoenix retransmit the NBC and local coverage from KTAR-TV/12 Mesa. So it wouldn't be outside the realm of possibility that a similar arrangement would have been set up for an emergency 26 years later...

All I recall about the Loma Prieta aftermath is an example from radio: KNBR-AM and KFOG-FM, which had just become 'sister stations' earlier in 1989, when Susquehanna(now Cumulus) bought KNBR, simulcast the KNBR morning show's quake coverage, with longtime DJs Frank Dill and Mike Cleary.

11:30 Late Night with David Brinkley

That should be David LETTERMAN. I think you got it mixed up with ABC's THIS WEEK with David Brinkley.

I was puzzled by the thread title until I found out the "Kentucky New Era" is in the western part of the state. Though the question remains, why are Nashville stations being aired in Kentucky (I assume you can't get them OTA)? Why wouldn't cablers just use Louisville or Evansville stations?

The Kentucky New Era is from Hopkinsville, KY, which is 71 miles northwest of Nashville off I-24.

Did the New Era not carry listings for Paducah's WPSD-6? (Paducah is 72 miles northwest of Hopkinsville).

probably easier to pick up. The Nashville Big 3 were (in analog) on 2,4,5 which would be easier to get. Looking at a tvfool for Bowling Green, KY an outdoor antenna still can get most Nashville stations.

Ah. Why didn't they just use INN then?

I think INN was also on KCPQ for a short time in the early 80s as well.

Featured: the story of how one woman devised a plan to meet her "Mr. Right"; viewers express their opinions of soap plots.

When I moved to the Seattle area in 2001, this show was half soap opera recaps/half talk show. Was the format the same in 1986?

Probably to differentiate the daytime newscast from the more widely viewed and better known nighttime INN News. Note that Ch.22 aired the daytime newscast, while Ch.11 aired the nighttime one in the overnight.

Glenn Rowell and Cy Kelly would bring "Captain Glenn" to Cleveland's WNBK-4(Later 3) later in 1953-Into the Spring of 1954. I did not know that Warren Guthrie's Sohio Reporter extended into Cincinnati and Columbus, Originating from WXEL/WJW-8, Cleveland..

Re: Retro: Cincinnati/Columbus/Dayton Mon, Jan 12, 1953

I'm not from Ohio but I did recognize a few names that rang a bell: Ernie Lee, who I assume is the same Ernie Lee who did the "Breakfast Beat" on WTVT Tampa in the '60s and '70s; Dick Noel, a singer on Tennessee Ernie Ford's ABC daytime show (1962-65); and Marian Spelman, who cohosted "Be Our Guest" with Bill Nimmo on WLWT in the mid-'60s (they later married).

I was also surprised that Garry Moore's daytime show on CBS (1:30 PM) wasn't carried on any of the CBS stations. The show was quite popular, running eight years (the last four at 10 AM) before Moore switched to primetime in 1958.

Finally, a technical question: was WAVE Louisville still on Channel 5 and WHAS on Channel 9? I know there were a number of channel changes: these two moved to 3 and 11 respectively; as for the ones on the list:

WLWC (WCMH) Columbus: Ch. 3 to Ch. 4

WLW(T) Cincinnati: Ch. 4 to Ch. 5

WLWD (WDTN) Dayton: Ch. 5 to Ch. 2

WTVN (WSYX) Columbus: stayed on Ch. 6

WCPO Cincinnati: Ch. 7 to Ch. 9

WBNS Columbus: stayed on Ch. 10

WKRC Cincinnati: stayed on Ch. 12

WHIO Dayton: Ch. 13 to Ch. 7

I think the move of WLWT and WCPO to 5 and 9, respectively, caused the channel change in Louisville, since the Louisville stations were short-spacing the Cincinnati ones.

I can also imagine some short-spacing problems involving Ch. 3 in Cleveland with a 3 in Columbus; likewise, with 13 in Dayton and Indianapolis. But you note that NBC was on Ch. 4 in Cleveland at the time; was it short-spacing Detroit's 4?

This must have been about the time of the big channel swaps in the Deep South: when WBRC Birmingham moved from 4 to 6, WRBL Columbus, GA from 4 to 3; WTVM Columbus, GA from 28 to 9; WTVY Dothan, AL from 9 to 4.

WCPO Cincinnati: Ch. 7 to Ch. 9

WBNS Columbus: stayed on Ch. 10

WKRC Cincinnati: stayed on Ch. 12

WHIO Dayton: Ch. 13 to Ch. 7

WKRC had started on Channel 11 and moved to 12 in 1952.

Also as part of the Indiana/Ohio/Kentucky channel-swapping:

INDIANA

WTTV Bloomington/Indianapolis: Ch. 10 to Ch. 4

WFBM (WRTV) Indianapolis: Stayed on Ch. 6

Allocation for Indianapolis (never-built WWHB): Ch. 3 was dropped with no VHF replacement.

Allocation for Indianapolis (later WISH): Stayed on Ch. 8

Allocation for Indianapolis (later WLWI/WTHR): Ch. 12 to Ch. 13

Allocation for Terre Haute (later WTHI): Ch. 4 to Ch. 10

Allocation for Evansville (later WTVW): Ch. 2 to Ch. 7

Allocation for Evansville (later cp for WVJS, and much later WNIN): Ch. 11 to Ch. 9

OHIO

WNBK (WKYC) Cleveland: Ch. 4 to Ch. 3

WEWS Cleveland: Stayed on Ch. 5

WXEL (WJW) Cleveland: Ch. 9 to Ch. 8

Allocation for Columbus: Ch. 8 was dropped (moved to Cleveland with no VHF replacement in Columbus)

Allocation for Cincinnati: Ch. 2 was dropped (moved to Dayton with no VHF replacement in Cincinnati)

The Cleveland/Columbus moves allowed a new allocation in Steubenville (Ch. 9), allowed the allocation for Wheeling to move from Ch. 12 to Ch. 7, and cost Pittsburgh one VHF channel (3-6-8-10-12 to 2-4-11-13).

So the VHF assignments changed as follows in 1952:

Ch. 2: Cincinnati to Dayton, new allocation in Pittsburgh

Ch. 3: Indianapolis to Louisville, Columbus & Pittsburgh to Cleveland

Ch. 4: Terre Haute & Cincinnati to Bloomington, Cleveland to Columbus & Pittsburgh

Ch. 5: Dayton & Louisville to Cincinnati

Ch. 6: No changes (Indianapolis & Columbus)

Ch. 7: Cincinnati to Dayton and Evansville

Ch. 8: Columbus & Pittsburgh to Cleveland, no change in Indy

Ch. 9: Louisville to Cincinnati & Evansville, Cleveland to Steubenville

Ch. 10: Bloomington to Terre Haute, no change in Columbus, Pittsburgh dropped.

Ch. 11: Cincinnati to Louisville, new allocation in Pittsburgh

Ch. 12: Indianapolis to Cincinnati

Ch. 13: Dayton to Indianapolis

I'll bet the guy(s) at the FCC got a headache figuring out all this. ;D

We have to save the Earth! It's the only planet with football and beer.

Re: Retro: Cincinnati/Columbus/Dayton Mon, Jan 12, 1953

Most of the above changes took place in the 1952-54 time frame..WNBK moved to channel 3 April 25, 1954..It was stated that their new, more powerful transmitter was moved to channel 3 to avoid interference with 4 in Detroit and 5 in Cleveland.

In 1949, before WXEL signed on channel 9, it was possible they would have at least started out on Channel 11..

Re: Retro: Cincinnati/Columbus/Dayton Mon, Jan 12, 1953

Is the Jack Buck who hosted "Take Ten" the sportscaster?

Also, two of these local shows had brief runs on NBC: "Breakfast Party" and Ruth Lyons' "50/50 Club." Ms. Lyons' show was holding its own against the "Love Of Life"/"Search For Tomorrow"/"Guiding Light" combination on CBS, but NBC wanted her to move to New York, and she was Cincinnati to the core.

Years later, Multimedia wanted to syndicate her successor, Bob Braun.

Braun liked to spotlight regional talent, which he felt he would no longer be able to do on a national show. Besides, from what I've gathered, his show was in the Mike Douglas/Merv Griffin vein, and this was at a time when another Multimedia show, "Donahue," ruled the daytime talk-show roost, and Oprah was waiting in the wings.

And one other Cincinnati personality, Paul Dixon, had network shows on ABC and (I think) DuMont, as well as a syndicated show that lasted until shortly before his death in 1974.

It is to wonder that Nick Clooney never got a national talk show, especially after "The Money Maze" gave him national exposure (and he was doing a show on WKRC).

But as Variety's Les Brown wrote in "Television: The Business Behind The Box," at one time no market could touch Cincinnati for its elaborately-produced local shows.

"Is the Jack Buck who hosted "Take Ten" the sportscaster?"

Yes.

He was working in the Columbus market from 1951 to 1953, calling the games of the AAA -level Columbus Redbirds of the American Association, a St. Louis Cardinals farm club, on WBNS and doing some TV on WBNS-TV at the same time. Within a few weeks after this listing was printed, he moved to Rochester, NY (a bigger market than Columbus at the time) at the Cardinals' urging and started calling the International League Rochester Red Wings (also a AAA club but considered the top farm club in the Cardinals organization at the time) on WHEC (AM) for the 1953 season. No local TV for Buck there, since WHEC didn't get its sister TV station on the air until November of 1953, by which time Buck had been promoted to the Cardinals booth for the '54 season, beginning a relationship with the Cards, KMOX and St. Louis that would last until his passing in 2002.

The removal of channels 3 (and 12) from Indy also made possible the allocations of these channel numbers to Champaign/Urbana, IL: WCIA on channel 3 and WILL on 12. WCIA signed on in November 1953 and WILL followed within two years.

Question Russ Brown research

Our family is trying to gather information (and perhaps some photos and/or video or sound recording) of family member & radio personality Russ Brown.

He is mentioned in this thread as part of Morning Matinee with Judy Perkins. He went on to cohost on Ruth Lyons too . . .

We would appreciate any suggestions for contacts and archives, and where else to research . . .

thank you!

If you know of any of the stations that aired Ronin Warriors in any of the markets that I have stated in the list that I want to know about or any others, post it here. Also if anything on the list isn't right, please let me know.

Ronin Warriors didn't run in Tucson. I taped the series and sent it to a friend who lives there.

You meant that you taped it from Cleveland's UPN affiliate, WUAB UPN 43 at 6:30am weekdays?

Now here's an update.

Did the TV Guide issue actually mention that the same episode aired on KXTV 10 at 7:00 as run on KPIX 5, et al, an hour later? How'd they do that? Wonder if they were shipped a 16mm film print in advance? Or was it on a 7 DB in Sac-town?

Save AM radio...kill I-CRAP.

...also find it interesting that, although KVIP-TV/7 Redding was officially a primary NBC affiliate, on this date they only took four programs from The Peacock -- three daytime game shows (The Price is Right, Concentration and You Don't Say!) and Johnny Carson -- while everything else networked was from ABC, including Ron Cochran's evening newscast rather than The Huntley-Brinkley Report. They waited until 9:30 AM to sign on the air, so even Today was bypassed. This particular week, only the NBC Sunday primetime schedule was run in network pattern. I wonder if, by any chance, KVIP may have cleared NBC on first-run primetime and switched to ABC reruns later in the season?...

A few comments on the listings.

--It must have been hard to be an Independent station in those days. You either had to generate your own programming, such as an hour of Romper Room at 11am, run movies or try to find some off-network syndicated reruns. KTVU 2 doesn't sign on till 10:30am. I grew up in the NYC area, and we had three Independents, always trying to find old shows. So we got Best of Groucho, Life of Riley, Burns & Allen, My Little Margie, Topper, etc. long after other markets had forgotten them. I see KTVU runs Best of Groucho at 7:30pm, and Bold Journey at 9pm.

--I didn't know Mantovani had a half hour music show. This is the first time I've seen it, at 9:30pm on KTVU. I know Liberace had also had a half hour music show for a while. And there were plenty of musical 15 min. shows featuring Dinah Shore, Perry Como and others.

--Another musical show was hosted by Mahalia Jackson, a rare program hosted by an African-American performer. KGO-TV runs it at 1am before sign off. It was only five minutes. Les Paul & Mary Ford also had a five minute musical show in those days.

--Johnny Carson was still beginning at 11:15pm in those days, requiring stations that want to run the entire show to limit their late news to 15 minutes. Everyone NBC affiliate here does that, except for KCRA Sacramento, which skips those first 15 minutes of Tonight and joins the show at 11:30pm.

...in addition, the San Francisco Bay Area had two ABC affiliates at the time, owned&operated KGO-TV/7 and Gilliland-owned KNTV/11 San Jose. KNTV had originally been an indie when it cranked up operations in 1955, competing with KTVU/2 Oakland when they started up in '58, but found the going too rough. In 1960, KNTV wrangled a deal with ABC to become a primary affiliate for the Monterrey-Salinas market, as its transmitter was atop Loma Prieta Peak, 100 miles south of San Francisco. The local brass at KGO-TV didn't like it, but KNTV stayed an ABC affiliate for the next four decades. Most of the schedule load displaced by the ABC programming wound up on KTVU...

...Mantovani was one of the series made for the NTA Film Network of the late '50s, the film-based network that sought to pick up whatever slack was left by the demise of both DuMont and the Paramount Television Network in 1955-56. Paramount, based through KTLA/5 Los Angeles (which Paramount Pictures owned at the time), had distributed the filmed music programs of Western Swing superstar Spade Cooley, jazz bandleader Ina Ray Hutton and the self-proclaimed "King of Exotica" Korla Pandit, and KTLA carried the Guild Films-syndicated shows of Liberace and Florian ZaBach locally in Los Angeles. NTA (which owned WNTA/13 Newark to get its programs into New York City) made 39 episodes of Mantovani available in early 1959; IIRC it was first run in Los Angeles on KTTV/11 and then rerun over KCOP/13 in 1961. Most of the 15-minute musical shows were network filler for the same half-hour their evening newscasts appeared in prior to 1963...

--Johnny Carson was still beginning at 11:15pm in those days, requiring stations that want to run the entire show to limit their late news to 15 minutes. Everyone NBC affiliate here does that, except for KCRA Sacramento, which skips those first 15 minutes of Tonight and joins the show at 11:30pm.

...that led to a big dispute between NBC and Carson in 1966, Carson wanted his monologue to lead off the show, but with local newscasts extending from 15 minutes to 20 and 30, some stations joined NBC either during or after the monologue. In early 1965, Carson flatly refused to do the first 15 minutes anymore, leaving that segment for Ed McMahon and Skitch Henderson's band to fill, and at contract renewal time staged a walkout until those 15 minutes were done away with altogether...

While we're on the subject of 16mm, how did they decide which stations got them ahead of time and which had to wait a week or two to get them? I've read some Mountain Zone listings where stations in the same market got their tapes weeks apart. And how good was the quality of these tapes?

...well, first off, in '63 these would be films and not videotapes. Tape stock was prohibitively expensive and cumbersome, while 16mm film prints could be (and frequently were) reedited for bicycling in off-network syndication or archiving. As far as who got what when, it was often on a case-by-case basis. One example is on the night of November 16, 1963, when one of the very smallest CBS affiliates, WSAU-TV/7 in Wausau, Wisconsin (then a one-station market), ran most of CBS' prime time schedule off of 16mm prints out of network pattern. CBS' Central Time schedule that night was:

6:30 Jackie Gleason and His American Scene Magazine

7:30 The Defenders

8:30 The New Phil Silvers Show

9:00 Gunsmoke

WSAU-TV's schedule that night was:

6:30 Jackie Gleason and His American Scene Magazine (from the network feed)

7:30 The New Phil Silvers Show (from 16mm, same episode one hour before the network feed)

8:00 Dairyland Jubilee (a long-running local variety show from WKOW-TV/27 Madison mainly focusing on polkas)

8:30 The Defenders (from 16mm, same episode one hour after the network feed)

9:30 Gunsmoke (from 16mm, same episode halfway through the network feed)

In addition, WSAU-TV didn't bother with a late Saturday newscast after Gunsmoke, going instead to a 16mm print of an episode of ABC's Sunday night series Arrest and Trial that had run on that network two weekends earlier. On the following weekend in a notably larger market, NBC's primary affiliate in Charlotte, North Carolina, WSOC-TV/9, had scheduled the pilot special for That Was The Week That Was to run on November 24 at 11:00 P.M. Eastern Time, after that night's prime time schedule and 14 days after its NBC network airing. (Of course, the assassination of President Kennedy and its aftermath scratched that entire weekend's schedule.) Judging from all this, at the very least I assume that the networks, or at least CBS and NBC, would get a primary affiliate a filmed prime time show for that current week if it was scheduled to run during the prime time frame, while a run outside of prime time would hold the 16mm print up for a couple of weeks...

Retro: Greenville/Spartanburg, SC September 21, 1989

For those remember on that day when Hurricane Hugo hit Charleston, South Carolina. Here's the listings from the Greenville, SC area via Herald Journal on September 21, 1989. From 9am to wee hours. Non-Public TV stations only.

WYFF 4 (NBC)

12:00am: After Hours

12:30am: The Twilight Zone

1:00am: The Rockford Files (with James Garner! Years ago syndie reruns used to be called which was trendy at the time Jim Rockford, Private Investigator just like Emergency! had Emergency One, Hawaii Five O had McGarrett I think, and Marcus Welby, MD known as Robert Young, Family Doctor)

2:00am: Barney Miller (syndie reruns after moved from channel 13 earlier)

2:30am: Night Gallery

3:00am: McCloud (with the late Dennis Weaver!)

It's a shame that WAXA 40 went off the air a month earlier after financial issues following the loss of Frank Outlaw. IMHO, if WAXA 40 was still on the air on this date, it would carry ABC shows like Home and daytime repeats of Perfect Strangers which was preempted by WLOS 13 for local news. And other syndie programs that didn't shown in GSP at the time.

Greenville/Spartanburg, SC market had more stations (5 commercial. WNEG 32, UNC-TV WUNF 33 wasn't mentioned, and 3 PBS from SCETV) than Charleston, SC market (4 commercial, no indies, and one PBS/SCETV).

And a month later NewsCenter4 (WYFF 4) became simply News4, and kept the gold Arrow 4 logo for two more years.

10:30am: Wheel of Fortune (daytime with Bob Gowen)

That's Bob Goen, not Bob Gowen.

-crainbebo

i remember seeing the gold Arrow 4 logo logo sometimes before NFL games or NBA games or "On Scene: Emergency Response" i always wondered what time did american gladiators come on WLOS? i know it was always saturdays at midnight?

i wonder what shows waxa would have picked up like "Ryan's Hope" "The Edge of Night" and any other shows that WLOS preempted

For those remember on that day when Hurricane Hugo hit Charleston, South Carolina. Here's the listings from the Greenville, SC area via Herald Journal on September 21, 1989. From 9am to wee hours. Non-Public TV stations only.

9:00am: Live! with Regis and Katie Lee (before moving to rival channel 4 a decade later and KLG left and now on NBC's Today Show 4th hour with Hoda Kotb which isn't cleared on WYFF 4 in the mornings, but shown on repeats only at 2:05am, and Regis retired, now Live! with Kelly)

That September, NY Giants Hall of Famer Michael Strahan became Kelly Ripa's new co-host, and the show is now known as Live! with Kelly and Michael.

That was where I got my first exposure to that classic ABC police comedy. I now have the full-series DVD release of it, and have very much been enjoying it. I remember when the reruns had CPT's Sunburst/Abstract Torch logo after the Four D Productions logo (that combo is saved on Shout!'s full-series release on the 1982 finale, albeit the Sunburst/AT is silent).

I believe the reason for those programs being part of WJTC-TV's regular programming schedule at the time was due to the regular programming schedule for the ABC station for the Mobile, Alabama-Pensacola, Florida TV market (WEAR-TV) not having it at the time.

Thank you for the schedule.

You're welcome!

Indeed. I wonder what WEAR ran instead?

It's been pointed out to me that in the original post, I misspelled "Love Connection". Unfortunately, the system won't let me go back and correct the error. Sorry, everyone!

Designing Women and Family Feud (9-10am) were CBS Daytime shows, probably bounced from WKRG.

A similar situation happened in Seattle during this time. KCPQ 13 (Fox) had to air most of the NBC and CBS game shows due to KIRO and KING not picking them up...airing local and national talk shows instead. KCPQ had Wheel of Fortune (both NBC/CBS, and I believe all 4 hosts as well - Woolery post-1980, Sajak, Rolf and Bob Goen), Family Feud (both half-hour and "Challenge" hour from CBS), Sale of the Century, and many other shows from NBC and CBS.

The Journey: 450 Years of the African-American Experience TV Listings anyone?

In Mobile, AL/Pensacola, FL; It was aired on WALA-TV Sunday at 10:00PM.

So, would anyone? Post your stations and the timeslot which that event was aired.

I was not aware (or had simply forgotten) that KCTV cleared "The Pat Sajak Show" at 10:30. As preemption prone as KCTV was, I'm surprised the station wasn't running Sajak on a 30-minute delay or preempting him outright. Also, I can't remember how KCTV initially handled Letterman's show when it moved to CBS.

2 9 49 Movie-Drama

"The Preppie Murder" - an unsettling account of a sensational crime story. In 1986, Jennifer Levin, an 18-year-old New Yorker from a well-to-do family, was slain in Central Park. Within hours, police picked up a suspect: Robert Chambers, a 19-year-old prep-school graduate who had been Levin's lover. Under interrogation, Chambers confessed to the slaying, but claimed that he accidentally killed the young woman when she hurt him during an episode of so called "rough sex." This 1989 TV-movie establishes the case against Chambers [played by William Baldwin] primarily from the viewpoint of Det. Mike Sheehan [Danny Aiello], who helped lead the investigation. But as the drama moves into the courtroom, the case for Chambers is aggressively presented by his lawyer, Jack Litman [William Devane], who plants doubts in the jurors' minds about the character of the victim. Lt. Doyle is played by the real Mike Sheehan. Linda Fairstein: Joanna Kerns.

4 27 Saturday Night Live 15th Anniversary

A birthday bash for the brash, irreverent series that says its original and current executive producer, Lorne Michaels, was no overnight success. "No one is more surprised than I am that we're on 15 years later," he says. "When I came to New York, I didn't give up my apartment in Los Angeles until midway into the 2nd season." Tonight, past and present cast members, joined by some of the 200 celebrities who've served as hosts, look back at some highlights. About half the show, Michaels says, celebrates in clips such memorable characters as the Loopners [Bill Murray, Gilda Radner]; Mr. Robinson [Eddie Murphy]; those "wild and crazy" Czech Brothers [Dan Aykroyd, Steve Martin]; Ed Grimley [Martin Short]; Hans and Franz [Dana Carvey, Kevin Nealon]; the Pathological Liar [Jon Lovitz]; and the Coneheads [Aykroyd, Laraine Newman, Jane Curtin]. Tributes to John Belushi [by Aykroyd and Jim Belushi] and Radner [by Curtin and Newman] are also scheduled, as are appearances by Chevy Chase, Billy Crystal, Tom Hanks, Buck Henry, Mary Tyler Moore, Garrett Morris, Joe Piscopo and O.J. Simpson. And the scheduled musical guests tonight are Prince and Paul Simon.

5 13 Island Son

Daniel's estranged son Sam [William McNamara] is in Hawaii for a karate match, but still has reservations about seeing his father. Meanwhile, someone seems to be using an apparently alcoholic diabetic as a punching bag. Daniel: Richard Chamberlain.

19 Infinite Voyage

"Life in the Balance" considers claims that Earth's ecosystem may be on the verge of extinction. A geologist studying fossilized evidence of a "cataclysmic event that once destroyed two-thirds' of all sea life warns that the present rate of species and habitat loss "parallels in magnitude virtually all ancient mass extinctions." Included: biologists inventory flora and fauna in Peru.

41 Married...with Children

5 13 Wolf

Lou Ferrigno plays a homeless, developmentally disabled man, who's charged with kidnapping when he tries to protect an 8-year-old girl from her abusive father. Meanwhile, Connie questions Sal's motives in romancing her wealthy widowed aunt. Tony: Jack Scalla. Sal: Joseph Sirola.

6 Learning in America

"Where is Nicaragua?" a Texas high-school class is asked. One girl responds "isn't it in the Middle East somewhere, like Africa or something?" According to "Teach Your Children," that answer is an indication of a "mediocre national performance" of American education. One reason cited: textbooks whose content, says reporter Paul Solman, is sometimes determined by interest groups.

6 Struggle for Democracy

"Whither Democracy?" visits two nations that "have won ground for democracy against phenomenal odds." One is Papua New Guinea, a tribal land that made a smooth transition from Australian colony to independent nation in 1975 despite predictions of chaos and bloodshed. In Rhodesia, however, sovereignty cost 30,000 lives as war erupted between the white minority government and black nationalists. Today the nation is called Zimbabwe and black leaders "debate in Parliament with white politicians who once imprisoned them or even ordered their executions."

did the nbc stations cut away from bills oilers for chiefs chargers

I don't believe they cut away. The game ended and the KC Chiefs game began. I wonder if, like today with Fox, that was a national game. However, Denver Broncos and LA Rams were playing at the same time...Denver may have only been for Rocky Mountains and westward. Houston and Buffalo was a very high scoring game, with Buffalo winning 47-41. Chiefs would lose to the Chargers.

I do not recall ever hearing of this program. Was it a syndicated show with a limited run, or a local show? (And if the latter, I wouldn't ever have considered Greenville, SC a prime location for crime...)

It was a syndicated show that lasted for one season

You're right about that. It aired in St. Louis on KPLR Channel 11 at 9:30 weeknights following their nine o'clock news during 1989-90, when they began to identify themselves as St. Louis 11. And it was hosted by veteran TV journalist Ike Pappas.

The network did not schedule "Paid Programming" at 9 AM, noon, 4:30 PM or 11 PM. That should read "Local Programming" in all of those slots.

i have wondered when did local news at noon become popular

Philadelphia, PA 1970's UHF / The Space Avengers

I've been trying to research on old Japanese Sci-Fi TV show called The Space Giants aka The Space Avenger. I saw that it aired in Philly on and off for over a decade on channels 17, 29 & 48. I only remember the Ch 17 airings. Does anyone have the actual time slots and duration of runs for each station? Thanks.

It was at 12:30 that President John F. Kennedy and Texas Governor John Connally were shot in Dallas' Dealey Plaza. The first network bulletin about the shooting interrupted "As the World Turns" on CBS at exactly 12:40; although NBC and ABC fed bulletins shortly afterwards, neither network were actually feeding scheduled programming to their Eastern and Central Time Zone affiliates during that half-hour. By 1:00, all scheduled programming would be scratched and replaced with wall-to-wall coverage of the assassination. Although it's not known if WMVS and WHA-TV took CBS up on their offer to carry their coverage, it's most likely that WUHF carried ABC's coverage, since they also regularly carried ABC's evening newscasts in Milwaukee (rejected by WITI) during this period.

Clay recited his comic poetry to promote his February 25th boxing match against then-Heavyweight Champion Sonny Liston, after which he changed his name to Muhammad Ali; Liberace provided piano accompaniment to Clay's recitation. Kamen's main contribution was a comic review of the movie Lawrence of Arabia. Taped on November 17th, this program was rescheduled for November 29th. Ironically enough, Liberace was scheduled to start a week of performances at a suburban Pittsburgh nightclub on November 22nd, as NBC was to have aired this tape, but the Kennedy assassination led to opening night being moved to the following night. During that postponed opening, Liberace was stricken by kidney failure, and afterwards was rushed to St. Francis General Hospital in Pittsburgh, where he was initially given a 20% chance of recovery. Liberace was still hospitalised when NBC finally ran this program the following Friday.)

The synopsis I got for the Harry's Girls episode was of the girls benefiting from a crooked roulette wheel.

Also, there seems to be some conflicting notes on what episode Route 66 aired that night. The thread on the Dallas, Texas schedule had "A Cage In Search Of A Bird" listed, which was actually scheduled for the following week. CBS's promo (aired moments before the second bulletin) merely said "Follow Tod and Linc on a mountain adventure with a pretty girl..." "Cage" had a girl hiding her boyfriend's poker winnings in the hubcap of Tod and Linc's car.

Pretty impressive that a syndicated wrestling show could be aired all the way in Wisconsin. I assumed that pre-WWF (the regional era) that shows stayed in their own region. Did any other wrestling show have this far a reach?

...well, by the time Junior McMahon took over the WWF, Verne Gagne's AWA covered a stretch from Chicago to Phoenix and San Francisco, with additional affiliations to the local promotions in Indianapolis (Dick Afflis' WWA), Memphis (Jerry Jarrett) and San Antonio (Joe Blanchard's Southwest Championship Wrestling). Plus, WCCW was still regularly shown in Honolulu...

Very interesting. I've seen clips from that Jack Paar show (albeit in black and white) with Liberace and Clay. A very funny piece.

...the entire Clay segment was issued by Shout! Factory on <http://www.amazon.com/Jack-Paar-Coll...ords=Jack+Paar> their Jack Paar Collection DVD set. Apparently, although Paar owned The Jack Paar Program through his Dolphin Productions company, and all episodes of the series (except for the trips to London) were originally produced and telecast in color, Paar never bothered to maintain the master tapes of the series, merely holding onto copies of NBC's black&white kinescopes...

OK, here's a puzzler for anyone who wants to field it. ABC was running Father Knows Best at 11:30 Central (Bud dates a beauty queen.) David Von Pein's JFK Channel on YouTube has ABC coverage of the JFK assassination which started at around 12:50 Central.

Did that tape come from a Mountain time zone station that taped the feed at 10:30 Mountain for playback in pattern at 11:30 Mountain? If so, someone at that station must have rolled tape on a second VTR, recording the station's OTA feed. That might explain the vertical and horizontal roll when the station cut away for the live ABC bulletins.

...I'm strongly convinced that the ABC assassination coverage videotape containing that Father Knows Best feed was recorded off the network line at KTVK/3 Phoenix. Others have suggested that KBTU/9 Denver was the source, but as KTVK was more used to recording the ABC feeds to maintain schedule patterns for both itself and KGUN/9 Tucson, that seems the more likely to me...

Father Knows Best feed was recorded off the network line at KTVK/3 Phoenix.

Not KTVK. I have (and previously published) Phoenix TV schedules for 11/22/63. FNB aired on KTVK (and KGUN-TV Tucson) at 10:30 AM MT. Back then, KTVK didn't do much tape-delaying of ABC--the daytime schedule was all generally the live east coast feed (two hours earlier than ET), and prime time (other than Saturdays) was aired "in pattern" via 16mm film (and the same episodes run by the network that night). Saturday prime was aired live starting at 5:30 PM MT.

Because of how the YouTube entry has out-of-synch cuts between FNB and news bulletins, it may have been some station (in CT?) that was airing FNB on a one-hour delay. As in Phoenix, I don't believe there were other MT affils doing much delaying of ABC daytime in 1963. Wherever it was, it was downline somewhere, as evidenced by the 5 kHz audio.

Save AM radio...kill I-CRAP.

I have TV Guides from the 60s and 70s in the MTZ, and all the markets listed (even Denver) would air daytime programming live off the East Coast feed. Heck some Salt Lake stations were doing this as late as 1982.

...where are said Phoenix schedules, so that we can try to settle this discrepancy?...

22 Battered Wives, Shattered Lives

"More common than muggings, auto accidents and rape combined, wife battering accounts for 40 percent of the serious injuries treated in hospital emergency rooms." That's one of the grim statistics cited by Ed Asner in this report, which examines domestic violence and what's being done about it. The hour begins by exploring the probable causes of abusive behavior and a paradox of a victim remaining in a violent relationship out of love. One such woman was Dorothy Rapp. She believed that marriage was "for better or for worse," but 30 years of beatings culminated in her shooting and killing her husband in 1981. [She was acquitted of all charges]. For other victims, staying is a matter of economic necessity. It's a choice, says one sociologist, between "staying and being hit or leaving and living in poverty." Also: candid interviews with battered wives and abusive husbands; segments on options available to women seeking help and the effects of domestic violence on children; and a look at the increasing tendency of courts "to treat family violence as a serious crime, not simply a husband-and-wife matter". Tom Kennedy was host of "Body Language," a charades game which aired on CBS at 3 PM (CT) and was pre-empted in Nashville. Somebody obviously got it and "Pyramid" mixed up.

CBS tried one more show at that time; "Press Your Luck" aired at 3 (4 ET) from January to September 1986. The Eye Network was the last of the traditional Big Three to air a show in that timeslot; when "PYL" was canceled, the time went back to the affiliates, as NBC had done in 1978 and ABC in 1984.

I remember that Charles Siebert, who appeared on "Trapper John, M.D.," was a frequent guest on "Pyramid." He was a very good "Pyramid" player, too.

Sorry for the long wait, but as for WCAY, at 2PM usually was "Gidget," 2:30 Fat Albert, 3PM was Tranzor Z, 3:30 Heathcliff, 4PM Inspector Gadget, and 4:30 Leave it to Beaver. All of those shows were preempted the next day as well for more MLB baseball.

-crainbebo

It was worth the wait. Thanks, Crain!

FWiW, the Friday before was the last daytime episode of Richard Dawson's "Family Feud.", hence the new time for "All Star Blitz" on 2 and 13, with the pilot for "Angie" at 10 on 13.

I see in this listing that WFYZ/39(now WHTN) was carrying Odyssey(85). Is this the ill-fated MTV clone that I saw on Vineland NJ's Ch. 65(at the time, WRBV; now WUVP)?

Maybe it was a religious program, as Channel 39 was/is a religious station.

I'm thinking Odyssey (85) was a religious program as well. Maybe it was a rebroadcast of a religious network, like the PTL Club or TBN. But it also could have been Christian/religious music.

-crainbebo

Maybe it was a religious program, as Channel 39 was/is a religious station.

Actually, Channel 39 started out as a general entertainment independent station, but since it was licensed to Murfreesboro (@ 30 miles SE), it wasn't successful competing against Channel 17, which was fairly well established by then, and Channel 30.

Please post listings for Saturday 6/15/1985 and Sunday 6/16/1985.

Sunday posted already:

Channel 39 was/is also hampered by a short tower (820 feet), farther away from Nashville near Gladeville (Wilson County). Channels 17 and 30 shared/share a tower in Whites Creek, just north of Nashville (1348 feet for Channel 17/1355 feet for Channel 30).

The Night of January 16th (Raleigh Little Theater's production of Ayn Rand's play produced by WRAL; the station also had an interactive segment allowing viewers to give their verdict via a phone numbers; pre-empts Ironside, Happy Days and the Movie of the Week)

Wow talk about something you'd never see today! Did WRAL do any other plays? Why did they pick an Ayn Rand play? And was the verdict for whether theater specials could continue or something else?

--Why did episodes of "Sesame Street" and the "Electric Company" get numbered? When did it stop? And did any other shows get this?

--Was the Tom Snyder episode the last TV appearance of Jimmy Hoffa? He would disappear that summer.

1. I honestly have no idea; this was as much info as I could rustle up.
2. For me it was easier that breaking my back on Google trying to find a full synopsis on that particular episode. I can tell you that on that particular episode of Sesame Street, Big Bird learned about clocks from Luis and David and Maria gave each other identical gifts.
3. I'm not sure.

As I mentioned in my reply to that thread.....Gene Thomley was his name. I don't know if he was local (I thought he was at the time) or not, and wonder where he came from and whatever happened to him. He didn't seem to have any major talent -- I just recall him sitting on a stool, chatting in a low-key style, and introducing guests. He might have actually sang some, too, but I didn't pay that close attention to the show -- it was really "background noise" when I would be getting ready for school.

He was local, but I can't tell you anything about him. I lived in Tampa and didn't get

Ch. 9.

Helen Thomley

Guest

Gene Thomley

My name is Helen Thomley; Gene Thomley was my father. He was a self-taught pianist who started playing professionally at the age of 15. He lived in Orlando for a few years, but was from Mobile, Alabama. Among having the show and a passion for country music, he toured with Johnny Cash in 1971 where he performed with him in Las Vegas. He personally knew Ernest Tubb from the Grand Old Opry and performed there multiple times. He was also one of Bob Luman's fellow musicians and dear friend. He was recognized and awarded a certificate from Florida's country Hall of Fame. He passed away in 2013 from a massive heart attack.

If you're wondering about the best known shown on WXLN isn't shown, it's because "Suncoast Digest" didn't start until August of that year.

And for those of you who don't know why this show is famous, here's the incredibly sad story.

I remember these early morning instructional programs like "Summer Semester" and "University of the Air"

Is there anyone out there who actually attended these lectures and actually earned a degree from them? I mean, really? ???

I also remember Villa Alegre on PBS. It was supposed to be the hot up-and-coming Hispanic Sesame Street. Then it just kind of went away. Did it fail, or did they just pull it in my area because we did not have a large Spanish-speaking population?

"Villa Alegre" began around 1973 and left the air in the mid-to-late-1980s (and was in production through the late-1970s), so it was no failure by all means. I think the show fizzled out because the series was beginning to show its age, against newer PBS series. (The original "Electric Company" was the same way -- production wrapped in 1977, but repeats continued through the mid-80s.)

KTLA was really into reruns.

Do any of you suppose that was because the Tribune Company owned the station? It would be interesting to compare KTLA's sked with that of WGN, KWGN (Denver), and WPIX from the same period. I bet that you would find the same pattern in each place, with Trib stations putting a heavy emphasis on reruns and local sports, as opposed to a movie and/or news orientation on their competitors.

In 1979, KTLA was still owned by Gene Autry and Golden West Broadcasters. It was sold around 1982 or so to a group of high level KTLA executives who formed as KTLA Inc., and they paid a then-record $500 million for the station.

I was just going to say that I know Tribune didn't own KTLA in 79.

I see on the schedule for ABC's Monday Night Baseball that both the Angels and Dodgers were playing at the same time (or at least on tape delay). I wonder what game actually aired that night on KABC?

All four of the L.A. indies apparently did not run news during the early evening. Wasn't there a time earlier in the 70's when one or two of the indies had early evening newscasts?

Also interesting that KTLA-5 and KHJ-9 had a 10pm cast, but KTTW-11 and KCOP-13 started at 10:30.

And the KHJ movie was "All About Eve", with Bette Davis from 1950! AMC wouldn't even touch that today.

Re: Retro: Los Angeles Mon, July 9, 1979

And why was the game running on tape delay? I was in San Francisco in June 1979, and remember seeing a Monday night ball game on the tube starting at 5PM. To me, it was so odd -- because being an east coaster, I was used to seeing it at 8PM. So, a 5Pm live start on the left coast would have been possible. Hard to believe, too, that the network's flagship station for the west coast would run a MLB game on tape delay.

...I assume KBSC/52 was running ON-TV after 8:00 p.m.; I rather doubt they'd simply sign off the air after the 7:30 The Life of Riley (Bendix or Gleason?) rerun ;-)

Very likely they were (likewise for KWHY) -- usually, TVG lists subscription TV time as merely "subscription television", with the services they carried listed separately, or not at all.

[In 1979, KTLA was still owned by Gene Autry and Golden West Broadcasters. It was sold around 1982 or so to a group of high level KTLA executives who formed as KTLA Inc., and they paid a then-record $500 million for the station.

It was the investment firm Kohlberg Kravits Roberts and Co. who purchased KTLA in 1982, then sold the station to Tribune three years later.

Was it when the Tribune Co bought KTLA that they went up on the satellite?

And why was the game running on tape delay? I was in San Francisco in June 1979, and remember seeing a Monday night ball game on the tube starting at 5PM. ABC used to tape-delay Monday Night Baseball on the West Coast every week(well, each of the 8 to 12 weeks they did a game), til the mid-80s. The games always started at 8:30 ET(later moved to 8), and most West Coast markets generally had a 3-hour delay...L.A. must have been the exception, in this case!

I(grew up in the Bay Area) was a little young to remember for sure, but I have vague memories of ABC's games airing starting later in the evening(after dark), which would rule out a 5PM start.

In '86 or '87, ABC started carrying most games live on the West Coast; I seem to remember a couple of weeks in '87 where the entire network showed games on a one-hour delay(game at 5 PT, but telecast at 6), but by '88, all telecasts were live at 5 PT

ABC always televised its All-Star, playoff and Series games live in the Pacific time zone.

Re: Retro: Los Angeles Mon, July 9, 1979

Re the several responses on the tape-delayed MLB game...

Since both ABC games involve local-market teams, wouldn't the game have been aired live, even if it normally was on a delay?

As to which game aired, I'd guess the Dodgers were--and likely still are--higher in the El Lay media pecking order than the Angels.

Regarding live sports being delayed on the left coast--I recall that for a number of years KOMO-TV Seattle delayed Monday Night Football (when it was live at 6 PT) until 7.

Yes, the Angels are definitely second fiddle to the Dodgers in L.A., despite both teams using "Los Angeles" in their names. I think the perception is the Angels are still the "Orange County" team, as in fact their home is still Anaheim.

KOMO TV Seattle and KATU TV Portland delayed MNF for decades. I think it changed sometime in the 90's, not sure the exact year. The argument was viewers wanted their local news at 6:30pm, (translation: they wanted the 6:30pm revenue).

I guess you have to be my age or older to remember, but when the Angels franchise started, they were the Los Angeles Angels. My memory is fuzzy on where they played - but I seem to remember that they shared Dodger Stadium (what was then colloquially called "Chavez Ravine" in the media). Perhaps they played at the LA Coliseum...can't recall for sure.

But even then, the Angels didn't get too much respect as a new team. It was the era of Koufax and Drysdale - the Dodgers could play some exciting baseball.

Gene Autry moved the team to Anaheim, and changed the name to California Angels.

The Angels originally played in "old Wrigley Field" which is the place where they televised the TV show Home Run Derby in 1959-60. Then the Angels shared Chevez Ravine with the Dodgers for several years. When the Angels played there it was called Chavez, Dodgers called it Dodger Stadium.

If memory serves correctly the Angels moved to their own stadium in Anaheim around 1966 or so.

...if you want to catch a glimpse of what the L.A. Wrigley Field looked like, watch a 1950 movie called Armored Car Robbery the next time it pops up on Turner Classic Movies or Encore Mystery. It involved a robbery at Wrigley, and a couple of scenes were shot at the actual gate to the stadium...

Couldnt KOMO and KATU have local news at 5:30 with MNF at 6 thats how KABC did it

You couldn't earn a degree from them, since they only aired two courses a "semester". But universities who participated in a special program could and did grant college credits.

12:00 NOON on 3-7-42 SHOULD be All My Children - NOT All In The Family as you have it

Cheers & 73

I don't know what surprises me more ... that it took nearly six years for that typo to be caught and corrected, or that someone thought it was still necessary after that amount of time.

Retro Olympics: ABC's Broadcast Schedule For The 1988 Winter Games In Calgary

In February of 1988, ABC went to Calgary to cover that year's Winter Olympics.

No one knew it then, but it would mark the last time that ABC covered an Olympics. ABC covered ten out of the fourteen Olympics (Winter and Summer combined) that had taken place between 1964 and 1988.

Following is the ABC broadcast schedule for the 1988 Winter Olympics, as published in Sports Illustrated's 1988 Winter Olympics preview issue, published in early February of that year. All times were Eastern.

Saturday, February 13th, 1988: 2:30-5 P.M. (Live Broadcast of the Opening Ceremonies) and 8-11 P.M.

Sunday, February 14th: 12 Noon-6 P.M., 7-11 P.M., and 11:30 P.M.-12 Midnight

Monday, February 15th: 8-11 P.M. and 11:30 P.M.-12 Midnight

Tuesday, February 16th: 8-11 P.M. and 11:30 P.M.-12 Midnight

Wednesday, February 17th: 8-11 P.M. and 11:30 P.M.-12 Midnight

Thursday, February 18th: 8-11 P.M. and 11:30 P.M.-12 Midnight

Friday, February 19th: 8-11 P.M. and 11:30 P.M.-12 Midnight

Saturday, February 20th: 12 Noon-6 P.M., 7-11 P.M., and 11:30 P.M.-12 Midnight

Sunday, February 21st: 11 A.M.-6 P.M., 7-11 P.M., and 11:30 P.M.-12 Midnight

Monday, February 22nd: 8-11 P.M. and 11:30 P.M.-12 Midnight

Tuesday, February 23rd: 8-11 P.M. and 11:30 P.M.-12 Midnight

Wednesday, February 24th: 8-11 P.M. and 11:30 P.M.-12 Midnight

Thursday, February 25th: 8-11 P.M. and 11:30 P.M.-12 Midnight

Friday, February 26th: 8-11 P.M. and 11:30 P.M.-12 Midnight

Saturday, February 27th: 12 Noon-6 P.M., 7-11 P.M., and 11:30 P.M.-12 Midnight

Sunday, February 28th: 12 Noon-6:45 P.M. and 7-11 P.M. (the latter a Live Broadcast of the Closing Ceremonies)

While Jim McKay as usual hosted prime-time coverage, Keith Jacksonm hosted the weekend daytime broadcasts and Frank Gifford (along with his then-new wife Kathie Lee) hosted the late-night wrap-ups. Gifford did double duty in Calgary; besides co-hosting the late-night show, he also called the alpine skiing competition (which he had also done for ABC in 1976, 1980 and 1984).

That September my mother was watching NBC's coverage of the Summer Games from Seoul (NBC's first Olympics since 1972 in Sapporo and the Peacock's first Summer Games since 1964 in Tokyo - feel free to correct me). My mom said to me something like, "It just doesn't feel like an Olympics without Jim McKay hosting." She'll watch figure skating and gymnastics, Olympic or not.

what i remember about Seoul that year besides NBC having to use guys like Curt Gowdy, Ray Scott and Merle Harmon on the NFL was some of the weird things that happened like Arlene Limas singing the anthem by herself when the tape machine would not play the boxing riots and the us women's gymnastics team getting a deduction that cost them a medal and the roy jones losing in a fight he should have won the judges were corrupt boy that was a crazy Olympics i wonder how Jim McKay and abc would have handled those incidents

Minneapolis schedules 1985-91

I am wondering if anyone has Minneapolis TV listings from about 1985 to 1991, or if anyone knows if there's any sites online that may have them, I've tried newspapers.com and Google archive but couldn't find any old papers that have them from that time or any other time for Minneapolis listings.

I am Moving Back to Fargo in a couple days and I believe the MSU-Moorhead Library has the Star-Tribune on Microfilm once I get settled in I'll probably head over there and print pages of the TV sections

5 13 Movie-Biography BW

Robert De Niro won an Academy Award for his knockout portrayal of boxer Jake La Motta in this powerful 1980 biography, directed by Martin Scorsese. Its subject, the Bronx-born La Motta, compiled a record of 83-19-4 in his 13 year ring career, winning the world-middleweight title from Marcel Cerdan in 1949 and holding it for nearly two years until he was stopped by Sugar Ray Robinson in Feb 1951. The brutality of those key bouts-stylishly choreographed by Scorsese and Oscar-winning film editor Thelma Schoonmaker-punctuates the story of a man who is just as violent out of the ring. Cathy Moriarty and Joe Pesci won Oscar nominations as Jake's wife Vickie and brother Joey, but the film belongs to De Niro, who actually put on 50 pounds during a break in shooting to portray the La Motta who, in late middle age, was reduced by business failure and a short prison stretch to working as a comedian and emcee in seedy strip joints. Boxer Eddie Mustapha Muhammad plays boxer Billy Fox.

Could "Hee Haw" still be bicycling tapes at this point? In the satellite era, why would stations air different episodes on the same week?

WGN Baseball

Chicago Cubs at Pittsburgh.

Odd to see a Cubs game on Saturday night in this era. Remember, there would be no night games in Wrigley at all until 1988, and teams tended to play more Saturday afternoon games in general back then.

They could be. It was probably 1983 when the bicycling method stopped. I recall in the first season of Wheel of Fortune, tapes were bicycled (83-84) in some markets, but then went to satellite.

-crainbebo

According to the episode guide in tv.com, the episode on KQTV/2 and KSNT/27 was a rerun of the last episode of the season. The one on WDAF/4 was a rerun of the "next-to-last" episode of the season.

Whether via satellite or bicycle tape, the distributor would have put out new copies of the episodes with different barter spots included.

My best guess is somehow WDAF put out the wrong episode number on the schedule they sent out. Or maybe they preempted a week sometime during the summer and were running a week behind.

This season, Jim Nantz would go solo on The Prudential College Football Report, after having had Pat Haden with him in the previous year; IINM, he would occasionally have Ara Parseghian with him in the 1987 and '88 seasons.

The Hawaii Five-O episode listed is called "Dealer's Choice: Blackmail", originally aired February 3, 1977.

John Ritter played the compulsive gambler. Would have been an eye-opener for those only familiar with his Three's Company work.

Thanks for posting this, Crainbebo! Two comments:

1. The show identified as Tales From the Darkness (10 PM on Channel 41) is actually Tales from the Darkside. (The episode is "The Unhappy Medium", if anyone's interested.)

2. Do you have any KC weekday schedules from this period?

Which was three weeks before the much more highly publicized report on the "CBS Evening News" on Beatlemania that is often credited with setting the stage for their huge American breakthrough in 1964. Wonder why NBC's report hasn't been given more credit.

...same reason why so many people are under the impression today that it was Walter Cronkite that told most Americans that President Kennedy had died in Dallas, while more viewers actually were tuned to Bill Ryan and Frank McGee that afternoon -- CBS has done a much better job of marketing its news archives than either NBC (poorer management) or ABC (scarcity of material). And the CBS piece on The Beatles didn't even debut on Cronkite's newscast, but The CBS Morning News with Mike Wallace on the morning of November 22nd, aired a few hours before the Kennedy assassination. As you can see above, not even a majority of CBS affiliates probably carried Wallace -- here, only the tiny markets of Wausau and Marquette even bothered to clear it, while the much larger Milwaukee, Madison and Green Bay all passed on carrying that program -- so the audience that saw the first airing of the CBS item wasn't even a tenth the size of those that were tuned to the NBC report...

When did Jack Paar play a clip of the Beatles on his Friday night NBC show? I've always read that that was the Beatles 'first American TV appearance' prior to their 'live and in person' debut with Sullivan.

Re: the 'Tonight Show' guests...did Johnny resist temptation to have Dahl and Udall sing 'Oh, You Beautiful Doll'?;-D

...that was January 3, 1964. Capitol Records had released "I Want to Hold Your Hand" in the United States nine days earlier...

Some of the movies listed are pretty well known and well regarded - at least they were when they came out. However, the bulk of the schedules looks like old black and white TV shows, for which the syndication market had dried up since network affiliates went to full time color (and avoided black and white)

Sub-channels are the new UHF. These schedules do look a lot like what is running on sub-channels today. What's missing today is all the local content that was an important part of independent TV: Kids' shows. Movie hosts. Talent shows. Bowling shows. Cooking shows.

I wouldn't say it had necessarily "dried up" ... In 1967, TV Guide's format still made a distinction for color programs, and the syndicated (non first-run, excluding animation) programs for the Philly indies that were in color were:

29: F Troop, Green Hornet, Time Tunnel, 12 O'Clock High

48: Superman, Hazel, Wagon Train

17's only colorcasts, other than a few movies, were the network shows they cleared and some sports programming.

In addition, the only color movies were "London Town", "The Blue Continent", "Pacific Destiny" and "The Gallant Musketeer".

The network-affiliated Vs still had some pockets of black-and-white, though. 6 still had The Detectives, Combat and The Rifleman on the schedule, and 10 was still running Sea Hunt ... but there was very little non-network programming on either or on channel 3, so it's more likely that a large amount of available syndication was non-color and it only becomes obvious because the Us were far more dependent on it. Bottom line: Not enough syndicated programming airing at all at that time for you to be able to draw the conclusion that you did.

Fast forward to 1973: None of the three VHF network affiliates were running any off-network reruns. While the majority of the reruns on the three independent UHF stations were in color, it was a bare majority, with B&Ws Alfred Hitchcock, Charlie Chan, Sea Hunt, Fugitive, Andy Griffith, Patty Duke, Ozzie and Harriet, One Step Beyond, and Untouchables (on 17), Jack Benny and Father Knows Best (on 29) and Outer Limits (on 48) still airing in Philly. I'd call it more a case where there the earliest of the color off-network product was available and the three Us had full choice because the Vs had passed on it all, so they chose a mix of color and black-and-white shows.

Your conclusion about the network affiliates is completely disproven, therefore, since in 1973 they certainly had access to the color reruns and passed on them entirely.

I wonder how many markets had local bowling shows. I remember being able to watch shows on Boston, Providence and Worcester channels while living in suburban Boston, then catching "Syracuse Bowls" on Sundays while in college. Little Rock, where my first job was, had no local show, but I moved here (Connecticut) in 1981 and sure enough, there was a local bowling show (duckpins) on Channel 20. All these shows are long gone. The Boston show was still doing big ratings when canceled, but youth-obsessed advertisers had deserted it. Are there any local bowling shows left on OTA television?

K.M., this Delaware Valley born and bred poster thanks you for posting these listings. I had just turned six yo and by coincidence, that listing was around the time my parents (we lived in Chester, PA) bought our first color TV (a Zenith, which was also our first TV with UHF reception capability [replacing our B&W VHF-only GE]), which is how I found out that Philly had a ch. 17, 29, and 48 to go with 3, 6, and 10 (plus 12 [NET] in Wilmington). Thanks again.

Thanks for posting this, as well as the similar posts from 1986 and 1987. Any listings for the other major indie (WGBS Channel 57) or the two minors (WTGI Channel 61 and WSJT Channel 65)?

As I recall, WGBS was the flagship station of GBS (Galaxy Broadcasting System), headed by Morgan Edge. It acquired The Daily Planet and made Clark Kent their local news anchor for a time, over the strong objections of Planet editor Perry White. At one point, Kent co-anchored with Lana Lang and retired football player Steve Lombard.

no Oscar Madison, GBS means (Grant Broadcasting System)

Anyone know what "Mystery Theatre" is?

...perhaps a syndicated package of reruns of short-lived cop shows from the 1970s and 1980s like David Cassidy - Man Undercover, Paris, Mrs. Columbo/Kate Loves a Mystery, etcetera?...

What was on 7-WWNY at 3:00?

..WWNY cleared The Secret Storm from CBS at 3:00. Apologies for missing that one...

WVNY-22 signed off at 11 pm back at that time? Why was that? Also, they didn't come on until 11:30 am. Someone help me.

...during WVNY/22's earliest years, as the only commercial UHF station visible OTA in Burlington and Montreal, the station had an uphill climb in getting viewers out of the habit of tuning in WMTW/8 for their ABC programming. WMTW's signal encompassed both Burlington and Montreal, and the entire eastern half of WVNY's signal area. Since ABC only scheduled daytime programming starting at 11:30 AM ET, and other, larger affiliates passed on the reruns of primetime series and newer soap operas (for ex, at this time That Girl daytime reruns and All My Children were seen in Milwaukee on WVTM/18 when WITI/6 rejected them for their own runs of The Mike Douglas Show and a noon newscast), WVNY probably decided to simply run just enough of the ABC schedule to keep the network satisfied and maintain the affiliation for the time being. Forgoing The Dick Cavett Show, never a really big draw against Merv Griffin on WCAX-TV/3 and Johnny Carson on WPTZ/5, also allowed for saving 7-1/2 hours' worth of electricity and labor costs each week. It's also worth noting that WVNY didn't run ABC's Saturday and Sunday morning kiddie shows or public affairs programming, signing on at 1:00 Saturday for ABC's NCAA football game and 6:30 PM Sunday with a rerun of The Dick Van Dyke Show...

So were the episodes of That Girl and Bewitched that ran on 22 from 5-6pm the same episodes that they ran off of the network feed from 11:30-12:30?

...yes. And it appears that WVNY didn't bother to run The ABC Evening News...

Please post listings for Saturday 11/13/1971 and Sunday 11/14/1971.

...will try over the next week or so...

From a very interesting time period in Argentina TV history, particularly for LS86. Teledos lasted 11 months and in its brief run put the channel at ratings heights I don't think it's ever managed again.

Meanwhile 2 and 9 were the only privately held stations because 11 and 13 were mired in failed privatization auctions (the military government had taken all the TV stations and there were different managers that ran them).

Having a technical problem...see reply below

Some intriguing listing here:

Connie Stevens on "American Bandstand"? What reason could they have her as a guest?

I'll assume Ch. 13 aired the CFL as a syndicated program, because the CFL's stints on network TV were blink-and-you'll miss it. How long did the CFL last in syndie?

Why so many stations airing "All in the Family", far and away the top rated show in 1972, out of its usual slot?

The CFL on Ch. 13 was syndicated...Ch. 13 even had an ad for the game in this issue of TV Guide.

The delayed broadcasts of "All in the Family" and some of the other sitcoms on Saturday night really had nothing to do with the popularity of the show(s), but the affiliates wanting to use them in the access slot (6:30-7:00 PM) on weeknights. Affiliates, such as KUHI-TV in Joplin, could run a 2-hour movie on Saturday night, sell all the commercial time locally, and then run the preempted network shows on 4 of the 5 nights the following week. KOLR was doing something similar, as well. KFPW could stick "Hee Haw" at 6:30 on Saturday, and then have a 30-minute show to plug into a weeknight 6:30 slot. Incidentally, it was pulling a programming stunt similar to this (not necessarily with AITF) that cost KXLY-TV in Spokane, WA its CBS affiliation in 1976.

KOTV's motivation during this time period was the fact that the station ran an hour-long newscast at 6PM on weeknights. On Tuesdays in 1972, CBS was running prime-time from 6:30 to 9:30 PM, instead of 7 to 10, and CBS had an hour-long show on Tuesday at 6:30. KOTV tape-delayed the Tuesday 6:30 CBS show to Saturday at 6:30, and then ran "All in the Family" at 7PM on Tuesday after the local news to fill to the next network show at 7:30.

I'm fairly certain KGTO ran AITF on delay simply because it was depending on off-air pickups for network shows, and none of the CBS affiliates around it ran AITF at the scheduled network time. Therefore, KGTO had to run AITF whenever its off-air source for CBS ran it. That's my own guess, but since KGTO ran a show like "American Angler" on Saturday night at 7, it signals to me the station didn't have a choice.

Great answer Steve! I'd forgotten the first year or two of access time was all over the map, before being fixed at 7:30-8pm ET.

OT, but related: I recently bought a book about San Francisco TV horror host Bob Wilkins and his 'Creature Features' horror-movie show. The book consists entirely of old TV Guide pages, many featuring the ads for the show, as well as for other programs.

From that book, I saw that CFL games were indeed syndicated from at least 1971 to '73, on either Friday or Saturday nights. (I'd guess that when the short-lived World Football League started in '74, at least some of those stations ditched the CFL games for the new league, which also followed a 'late summer into mid-autumn' schedule.

Concentration turned 14 on this date. On this show and on the following week, 14-year-old kids were contestants.

Steve, thanks for these posts. This is an interesting market. I don't know any of the history of KGTO/36, but I'm sure you're right they were underfunded. Also you have to question their decision not to run As The World Turns, and apparently not being able to sell a bunch of paid religious shows on Sunday.

This is really strange...two NBC stations pre-empting Bonanza. I picked up this edition of TV Guide during a visit to Branson in the 90s, and remember Bonanza and Gunsmoke were both run in syndication on several stations.

I'm guessing the preemptions were a summer thing.

I seem to remember reading about that time that the show was changing format and that under the new format no Romper Room toys would be advertised.

Believe me I remember the commercialization in Romper Room. For Christmas 1971 I asked for a Do Bee Dough Machine but didn't get one. By the time March 1972 came around I was in morning Kindergarten and couldn't watch the program. I do know that Bill Harrington, Miss Jean's husband, was with WCVB for a long time.

Miss Jean did not follow over to WCVB-TV after WHDH-TV left the air on 3/19/72. I believe WCVB used a generic (national) version of Romper Room from Claster Productions that was available to stations that did not produce local versions of "Romper Room". But, yes.... Bill Harrington made the move to Needham (WCVB-TV) and stayed at Channel 5 for many years thereafter.

I was Miss Kris on WTEV-Channel 6 during the time that TV personalities stopped doing commercials during their shows. The Association for Children's Television became active around 1970-1971 and, as children's show personalities, we were no longer able to do commercials. Starting in 1972, Romper Room National (Claster Productions) began making "canned" shows available to TV markets featuring Miss Sally (the daughter of the original RR teacher, Miss Nancy) at a cost that was lower than local stations could produce the show. Thus, the local personalities and local children were no longer featured on the show.

5 - WWWF Washington Wrestling why they didn't include the WWWF name on the listing?

Because TV Guide was notorious for not putting league information, etc. in the main listing line. Sometimes, if it was a major sport, you'd see "NFC" or "AFC" in the program description.

Especially so as not to give a free plug to the sponsor (gee, I really want to see that Mazda Gator Bowl). On occasion, the title said only "College Bowl Game."

This was probably highlights from the World Track Championships in Rome.

Re: New York TV- Late Summer 1987

I couldn't help but notice the Michael Jackson special which CBS aired that night. I believe that is where the world premiere for his "Bad" video took place.

Re: New York TV- Late Summer 1987

The first summer where I stayed up all night watching TV. I was only eleven at the time, so staying up all night (or almost all night) was a big deal back then...

> WCBS-TV 2

> 6:00 - Channel 2 News at 6 (who anchored the 5:30, 6 and 11 > o'clock newscast for WCBS in 1987)

...Jim Jensen should have been at the anchor desk at 6 with the lovely Michele Marsh, who I had a huge crush on. IIRC, Marsh was paired with Mike Schneider (who later moved to ABC News) at 11. As for the separate 5:30 half-hour, I can't remember right now.

> WNYW 5 (owned by Fox/News Corp.)

> 5:30- Jayce

...The full title was "Jayce and the Wheeled Warriors", produced by DIC with only one season's ('85-'86) worth of episodes.

> 7:30 - Defenders

..another missing title? This was "Defenders of the Earth", which featured Flash Gordon and a bunch of other superheroes.

> WWOR-TV 9

> 8:00-- News 9: Primetime

...Since you mentioned news anchor pairings, I'm surprised you left this one out. Sara Lee Kessler (Mondays thru Thursdays) and Tom Dunn co-anchored this program. However, I think Dunn had retired by this time. Not too long later, the now-MCA-owned WWOR moved the primetime news to 10:00 and expanded it to a full hour, with two new anchors.

> 1:00 - The Joe Franklin Show

...The late night legend.

> 2:00 – Movie- Human Feelings (1978)

> 4:00- Movie- Something Evil (1971)

...Wow, late night movies!! Nowadays, channel nine runs informercials between 2 and 6 AM.

> WPIX 11

> 7:30 - The Transformers

> 4:30 – Good Times

...WPIX made this change in the spring of '87. I was so mad at them for doing it that I wrote a letter to them and had most of my fifth-grade classmates to sign it along with me. Back then, The Transformers was my favorite cartoon show, and I was ticked off that it went to mornings, where I couldn't watch it on school days.

> 7:30 - The Independent News (with Brad Holbrook and Donna > Hanover)

...Brad Holbrook now co-anchors one of those weekly syndicated business news shows. Donna Hanover is out there, somewhere, far removed from her days as New York City's first lady.

> 8:00 – INN News

...A correction: this is the "Eight o'Clock Movie", when there wasn't a Yankees game (and there weren't too many of those on WPIX in the '87 season).

> 10:00- News

..."New York Tonight", anchored by Holbrook and Shelia Stainback.

> 10:30- INN News

...Morton Dean may have still been there. Then again, his time on INN was a blur anyways.

A few weeks later, WPIX made a boner of a scheduling move. The primetime movie was pushed back to 9:00; the local and national INN news was condensed into 30 minutes at 11:00; and the empty 8:00 hour was filled with reruns of Hill Street Blues. By the start of 1988, the changes were reversed.

How about WNET and WLIG skeds from the same week?

With WLIG technically not a local station in NYC, maybe the Times only listed the prime-time schedule. Also, "Combat" is supposed to be an hour-long show, not half-hour. <P ID="edit">Edited by rugrats1 on 09/18/05 05:28 PM.</P>

This must have been before CBS tried to establish a late-night franchise with The Pat Sajak Show. [And it was a number of years before they wooed David Letterman away from NBC.] Throughout most of the 1980's, CBS aired reruns in the 11:30 PM time slot or low-budget first-run programs produced in Canada. [I can't remember all of them, but I think "Adderly" was one of them.] Remember when CBS showed reruns of "The Prisoner" in the early 1990's at about 12:30 AM on Thursdays?

> 2:00 - CBS News Nightwatch (with Charlie Rose; 4 hrs.)

> WNBC-TV 4

> 5:00- Ben Casey

> 6:00 - NBC News at Sunrise (with Deborah Norville)

Deborah Norville, before she was on The Today Show, and before she was booted off The Today Show.

> WNYW 5 (owned by Fox/News Corp.)

> 4:30 – Gilligan’s Island

> 5:00 – Brady Bunch

> 5:30 – What’s Happening

> 6:00 - Three's Company

> 6:30 – M*A*S*H

This is interesting, if for no other reason than to indicate what slim pickings there were in terms of syndicated reruns.

> 12:00 am - WKRP in Cincinnati

I think back then they still had the music licensed, so the rock music in the soundtrack wasn't replaced with generic music.

> WWOR-TV 9

> 11:00 – Bosom Buddies

Was this show made for any reason other than to embarrass Tom Hanks once he became famous?

>

> 11:00- The Odd Couple

> 11:30- Honeymooners

Will any two reruns have the staying power of The Odd Couple and The Honeymooners in the 11:00 PM/11:30 PM time slots on channel 11? [I think every once in a while they would flip them around and start with The Honeymooners at 11 PM, but otherwise, that lineup was more or less intact from the mid 1970's, when The Odd Couple ended its run on ABC, until perhaps the 1990's? I'm not sure when they changed their lineup.]

Channel 2 WCBS-TV...

11:30 – Simon and Simon

12:40 am - CBS Late Night Movie: King of the Mountain (1981)

2:00 - CBS News Nightwatch (with Charlie Rose; 4 hrs.)

I had forgotten that Charlie Rose had done the overnight news on CBS in the 80s. Here we are 30 years later and at age 70 he's hosting the morning news program, as well as filling in on the CBS Evening News. Not to mention his one-hour weeknight interview show and weekend news roundup show for PBS. He's like this decade's Regis Philbin, busier than ever at an age when many are retired.

10 PM ABC 100 Grand. That show had been canceled before your source went to press.

It had its last broadcast on Sept. 29, after only three weeks. The complicated format, with contestants answering questions submitted by viewers, then by a panel of experts in the contestants' category, bored the audience; besides,

I don't think the audience trusted a show which gave away a top prize of $100,000, since the scandals were still fresh in the public's memory.

> 9 Million Dollar Movie-The Big Sky (3 times in a row)

RKO was famous for this in the 1960s. The "Million Dollar Movie" was generally the best films from whatever library they could afford, repeated at the same time every weeknight for a week and/or two or three times in a row Saturday and/or Sunday.

I remember KHJ/9 Los Angeles doing the weeknight repeat as late as 1971.

Now, that I would have liked to have seen!

I did see the Stooges live show at an amusement park stage that summer and they were definitely past their prime, but hey, it was the original Moe and Larry!

The Stooges were in a revival because of the showing of their old shorts on Local TV across the USA. They would have shown their age in live shows by 1963. There are some public domain DVD's of their cartoons produced in 1965 which include live action wraparounds in color..Thats where they really show their age.

WCBS-TV 2 in NYC and KTTV 11 in Los Angeles were the two earliest stations to go all night. It wasn't quite 24 hours. WCBS-TV's all-night movies (The Late Show, The Late Late Show, etc.) ended around 5:30, then a test pattern ran till the station signed back on around 6am. They didn't bother to time out the movies to end at the beginning of the morning schedule. Sometimes the last movie ended about 30 minutes before the morning sign-on, where they could have inserted an old sitcom, but they didn't bother.

KTTV would end its late movies around 6am or 6:30 and sign back on around 7:30. So in effect, LA did have 24 hour TV before NYC, because KNXT 2 would sign on at 6am. At that time KNXT didn't run movies till dawn, but it did run movies till around 4am. So Los Angeles viewers had two stations to choose from except between 4 and 6am.

I haven't found any stations in other markets running all night till the 1970s. Even though the two CBS stations in NYC and LA stayed on late, CBS stations in other markets ran only one or two movies after the late news. It wasn't a company policy.

The listing at 7:45 for Channel 2 may have been a misprint. I doubt WCBS-TV did a 45 min. newscast at 7:45am on a Sunday. There probably was an 8am show but it got omitted. "Give Us This Day" was WCBS-TV's title for the opening three minute opening prayer. WNBC-TV 4 calls their opening prayer "Sermonette." Both stations had ministers, priests and rabbis come in and record these things for showing at sign-on and sign-off.

And notice Channel 4 at 7:45. "Modern Farmer" was a catch-all title for WNBC-TV running agricultural films early on weekend mornings, which I guess they used as an FCC favor, saying they were serving the farming communities around New York. I remember the films were all given out for free from various farm interests, such as the Dairy Council showing us where cheese comes from and how we should add more cheese in our menus. They might even show us a family that operates a dairy farm, and how dad, mom and the kids all do their chores for the cows, and that we should drink more milk.

The 1965 Stooges cartoon shorts, I remember seeing on Philly's WFIL-6. Here's Wiki's article...

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_New_Three_Stooges

Notice it came in part from Cambria Studios. I emphasize that only because there's a Cambria County in my native state of Pennsylvania.

It wouldn't be the last time the Stoooge property got the 'toon treatment. Their next one (by which time Moe and Larry had joined Curly and Shemp in the happy haunting ground) came from H-B...

It was the first E/I program on TV then.

What -- you don't think watching sped-up film of a horde of comely British birds in garters, stockings, and 5-inch FMP heels chasing a pudgy, middle-aged man to the tune of "Yakety Sax" is a religious experience?

Actually, at that point the sketches from Hill's show that were aired were from when there was (relatively) more emphasis on his TV show and film parodies, his gallery of characters, his impersonations, his poems, his songs . . . (that is, the period from 1969 to '79).

Re: Retro:WOR-TV 9 New York City Sat.-Sun. January 19-20, 1980

I have always wondered what exactly was the difference between the Benny Hill show that the UK saw and what we saw here in the US? For years I was under the impression that "their" version of Benny Hill had a lot more nudity and sex jokes but over the years from those who had seen Benny on UK TV, I have been told otherwise.

I do remember back in 1981, maybe it was 1982 when HBO gave Benny Hill the chance to do a special for them. People were really expecting totally nude women dancing and Eddie Murphy-style sex jokes. I mean hey its HBO !!! Then when Benny's HBO special finally did air I seem to recall it really wasn't all that much more different than what was seen on the many of the OTA stations at the time other than HBO's Benny Hill was 60 minutes while on plain old regular TV, Benny's show lasted only 30 minutes. I remember a LOT of people were disappointed with HBO's version of Benny Hill.

Re: Retro:WOR-TV 9 New York City Sat.-Sun. January 19-20, 1980

Much of what was "edited" from the early years of the Hill shows when assembled for syndication were, largely, songs from musical guests that no American would know of (i.e. Design, Two's Company, Berry Cornish), or to save money on songwriters' royalties per such numbers, or both. And in the early years of U.S. syndication, many "verbal" comedy routines (i.e. Scuttle) were cut out altogether. All this was found out upon the release of the complete Hill shows on DVD by A&E Video several years ago.

There was at least one instance of nudity on the US version of Benny Hill. Somehow it got past the syndicator and whoever screened the show at local stations.

That would have come from his 1977 Australian-made special, Benny Hill Down Under. The complete edition of which to date has not been put out on DVD in America, England - and Australia.

Yet, at this point, Channel 9 had not yet gotten the half-hour edits of the episodes which essentially transformed Hill's show into a de facto Playboy magazine of the air.

What was strange was that, in the Tampa Bay area in the early-1980s, WTVT ran Benny Hill Saturday nights at 7:30PM after "Dance Fever" -- when the kiddies are watching.

WOR had a very sports heavy schedule.

seeing that, Besides WOR, New York and WGPR (WWJ(2) today) Detroit, what other non-PBS stations carried Doctor Who in the USA?

Only five years late in answering ...

KBSC/52 in Los Angeles carried the Tom Baker episodes for a few years, airing one episode per weekday at either 7:00 or 7:30pm, until they went 24/7 subscription television as ON TV.

"They Call Me MISTER Tibbs!" [1970] In this sequel to "In The Heat of the Night," Detective Virgil Tibbs (Sidney Poitier) must solve the murder of a prostitute. The last person witnessed with the victim is Tibbs' friend, Logan Sharpe (Martin Landau), a preacher and activist. Despite his loyalty, Tibbs must investigate when Sharpe admits having visited the prostitute. In addition to his police work, Tibbs must also ease tension with his wife (Barbara McNair), who wants him to spend more time with her and their children.
